Hilldale Home Buying Slated For Exploring

Every possibility of purchasing Hilldale homes by a private investment group will be explored.

Stanley Swinehart, Pottstown contractor, said last night, "I expect to begin investigating the situation tomorrow. I want to find out what the purchase price will be if the US Public Housing administration decides to sell Hilldale."

Swinehart admitted his name might be connected with a group which may purchase Hilldale, but insisted the bulk of support for any purchase would come from outside investments.

He explained "I'm in contact with an outside investment group which wanted to purchase my rental housing development. Since I declined to sell, they have asked me to explore the possibilities of purchasing Hilldale."

"IN THE event the group buys Hilldale I will manage the operation."

The possibility of purchasing the low-rent housing project was advanced on Friday when a PHA official said if certain legal re-

Thinking It Over

Still reflecting over the bullet which ripped through his side early Saturday morning, Charles A. Barr, 19, Lake road, Sanatoga, relaxed in his Memorial hospital bed a few hours after the shooting.

Nurse Mrs. Paul Kopicki adjust Barr's pillow. Barr was discharged Saturday afternoon. He was shot when he tried to track down a prowler in the yard in back of his Lake road home.

Stray Bullets Worry Mother of Hurt Boy

Two stray bullets fired in something funny going on in these woods. Someone is going to get hurt. I don't have anything against four cops, but I wish someone from the outside could be brought in to investigate.

After all, our man has the whole township to cover and he can't be on duty all the time. I won't be satisfied until this fellow is caught."

Young Barr was admitted to Memorial hospital early Saturday morning with a wound in his left side below the lower rib. He was discharged Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Barr explained, "Doctors said if the bullet had passed one inch nearer the center of his body it would have killed him. One inch the other way and he would have been fired in this vicinity."

On the night of this past Sept. 17, a bullet narrowly missed Shirley Heidenreich, Sanatoga Station road daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Heidenreich, when she was studying in the family kitchen.

The Heidenreich home is located approximately three-quarters of a mile from the Barr home.

MRS. BARR, whose son missed death by 1 inch, said, "There's

County Medical Director Suggested Precautions

Amityville Township Consolidated school will be closed today and tomorrow so it can be aired and cleaned as a precaution against the spread of polio, which hospitalized a First grade pupil over the weekend.

Janet Gross, 6, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Gross, Douglassville RD 2, was admitted to Reading hospital the past Friday and placed in an iron lung Saturday.

A hospital spokesman said last night the child is "fairly well," but would not disclose the type polio with which she has been stricken.

Michael C. Billett, supervising principal of the school, reported the school will be closed until Wednesday morning at the suggestion of Dr. Merrill DeWure, Berks county school medical director.

He said the closure "is being taken as a precaution. We're not sure if the airing and cleaning of the furniture will help, but we hope it will."

The supervising principal said the youngest case "is the first case that I know of during the school term" in Amity township.

HE SAID he informed the school's 17 teachers of the closure by telephone yesterday, soon after he had learned of Miss Gross' hospitalization through members of the school board.

Approximately 430 pupils will be affected by the closing of the school. The pupils will be notified this morning by school bus drivers, telephone and through newspapers.

Dr. W. Peter Steilmach, Reading health officer, said yesterday he will confer today with Dr. Norman Angstadt, school health authority, to determine whether Reading's schools should be closed in an effort to combat the spread of inflexible paralysis.

Reading hospital has 12 cases of polio, seven of which are confined in iron lungs. Four cases.

Girl, 7, Receives Minor Injuries in Fall From Auto

A 7-year-old Pottstown girl received minor injuries last night when she fell out of her uncle's moving automobile on Route 422 near Reading.

Robin Lee Kaufmann, 627 Walnut street, was taken to St. Joseph's hospital in Reading where she was treated for deep brush burns of the forehead, arms and legs.

Michael Zueno, of the same address, the child's uncle, said the mishap occurred while he, his wife, Doris, his daughter, Alice Linn, 2, Josephine Satter, 7, and Robin Lee were returning to Pottstown from a drive-in theater at Mt. Penn.

He said he had cautioned the children who were in the back seat about touching the door handle while the car was in motion, but the little girl failed to heed his warning.

MRS. ALICE HAINES, 627 Walnut street, who had also attended the show, was driving behind Zueno's car when the little girl fell out and had to swerve her automobile so as not to run over her granddaughter.

Mrs. Haines said she saw the child hit the edge of the highway when roll onto the shoulder.

High Street Traffic Mishaps Injure Two Pottstown Men

A Pottstown man was hospitalized Saturday night when he was struck by an automobile on Hanover street, between High street and the Reading railroad tracks.

Marvin Ault, 35, Road "C," Hilldale, was admitted to Pottstown hospital, following the mishap, where he was treated for a broken nose and cuts of the nose. Hospital authorities reported it took five sutures to close the injury.

Joseph Toth, 11 Plum street, driver of the car, said he was traveling South on Hanover street, behind another car, when Ault walked directly into the vehicle's path.

Toth claimed he could not stop in time, struck Ault and knocked him to the street.

A witness, Charles Messantonio, of Norristown, said he saw Ault walk out of a cafe and step into the street in front of the car.

Audubon Couple Hurt in Crash At Collegeville

An Audubon man and his wife were injured Saturday morning when their car struck the rear of a bus on Route 422 in Collegeville.

Kenneth Hildebrand, 41, and his wife, Pearl, 37, were treated by Dr. A. P. Lieber, Collegeville physician, for minor cuts and bruises. The woman then was sent to Memorial hospital for X-rays to determine a possible fractured left wrist.

The accident occurred when Hildebrand ran into the rear of a Schuylkill Valley bus driven by Michael DiParto, of Philadelphia.

Jeffersonville State police investigating the mishap reported that the bus had slowed down to make a turn and Hildebrand could not stop his car in time to avoid the accident. Both vehicles were travelling west on the highway.

Police estimated the damage to Hildebrand's car at $700 and damage to the bus at $70.

Don't Worry—It's Real

No, you're not seeing things—it's really a two-headed snake being admired by Richard Cook, 11, of Colebrookdale manor, Bovertown. The strange reptile, about a foot long, red and light tan in color, was found by Corp. Eugene Cook, Richard's brother, while walking outside their home. Cook said he would like to turn the snake over to someone who would want to study it. Any takers? (The portion of this photo showing the snake has been slightly enlarged for the benefit of Mercury readers.)

Antique Dealers Open Show at Sunnybrook

Sunnybrook ballroom will glisten with sparkling silverware and polished furniture today, tomorrow and Wednesday during a show staged by the Montgomery County Antique Dealers' association.

More than 50 antique dealers will exhibit their prize pieces at booths on the ballroom floor from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. at the three-day show. Silas Stahl, president of the antique dealers' association, said, "The first show we held was the past Spring and we had about 3000 persons attending. This year we expect at least 5000."

Almost every antique dealer in Montgomery county is a member of the association, according to Stahl.

"EVERYTHING in antiques will be found there," Stahl reported. "There will be fine furniture, china, glass, old silver, lamps and all kinds of antique furniture — Pennsylvania Dutch, 18th century and Victorian."

One of the featured displays of the show will be a collection of old wedgewoods. Harry Buten, Wynne-wood, is the owner of the prize pieces which Stahl said "is a collection worth thousands of dollars." Wedgewoods are made into pottery and jewelry. The material is a hard glossy-like substance resembling pottery, of a very high quality.

Pottstown's Prides

Another in the series of beautiful homes that make Pottstown warm

—Mercury Staff Photo

A living room the width of the house and landscaping done almost entirely by the owners themselves are features of this home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hallman at 676 North Keim street. The house was built three years ago by George Adamski, Pottstown contractor. The brick work is vari-colored (red mostly); the roof is blue and the shutters, which Hallman made and decorated himself, are robin's egg blue, as is the front door. Downstairs is the living room at the front of the house, a dining room and kitchen. Upstairs are three bedrooms and bath. At left rear is a flagstone patio. In the long bed of flowers bordering the walks are marigolds. That's a red maple in the front center. Over the arbor are roses, and in the back yard are 18 more rose bushes. Riding the tri-cycle is Mr. and Mrs. Hallman's 3-year-old son, Joseph William Hallman. The father is a machinist for Spicer Manufacturing division.

Nixon Asserts Hope To Poland Important

NEW YORK, Oct. 5 (AP) — Sen. Richard M. Nixon, Republican vice-presidential nominee, said today the United States "must give hope to the people of Poland for their eventual freedom."

Nixon made the statement, for radio broadcast over local station WWRL, from the reviewing stand of the 16th annual Pulaski Day parade on Fifth avenue. Police estimated 500,000 spectators watched about 75,000 Americans of Polish descent march in the procession from 26th street to 52nd street along the avenue.

Hope for Polish freedom, the California Senator said, "can be rekindled by our repudiation of Yalta commitments that abet Communist slavery of free nations, and by working unrelentingly in peaceful fashion for Poland's liberation."

"It should be a matter of sorrow to every American, whatever his origin," Nixon said, "to ponder the fate of Poland today."

"Due to the shameful Yalta agreement, in which unfortunately the United States bears an awful responsibility, and due to the Soviet Government's violation of even that agreement's terms, Poland today is shackled by its Communist masters."

URW Seek Approval Of Wage Increases

AKRON, Ohio, Oct. 5—The President of United Rubber Workers (CIO) disclosed today applications for approval of recent wage increases won from three of the rubber industry's "Big Four" companies have been filed with the Wage Stabilization board.

L. S. Buckmaster, head of the union, said joint applications have been filed by URW and B. F. Goodrich company, Goodyear Tire and Rubber company, and United States Rubber company on recently negotiated pay boosts of 10 cents an hour.

Buckmaster expressed the hope that the national WSB in Washington, which now has the applications for consideration, would approve the increases "in the very near future." Some 82,000 URW members are covered in the three agreements signed recently.

He said no application for approval of a similar wage hike for 24,000 Firestone Tire and Rubber company workers had been filed since a majority of URW membership in the Firestone chain had turned down the wage and contract agreements signed recently.

Iran Urges Discussion Of Caspian Fishing Rights

TEHRAN, Iran, Oct. 5 (AP) — A government source said today Iran has instructed her ambassador in Moscow to take up the matter of Caspian sea fishing rights, long in dispute with the Soviet Government.

Iran maintains her pact with Russia expired Oct. 1. The Russians, who get some of their best caviar from the area, maintain the agreement has several months more to run.

After many years of dispute and prolonged negotiations, the two countries agreed to a pact in 1927 under which Iran's northern shore fisheries are managed by a joint company in which Iranians and Russians hold key posts. Iran now maintains the Russians make huge profits from the venture and there has been much talk recently of Iran taking over the fisheries as an Iranian operation.

BLUE CROSS gives you hospital careBLUE SHIELD pays medical-surgical billsIf you are under 66 and in good health*Now you can join*BLUE CROSS* and BLUE SHIELDas a non-group member

You and your family can join no matter where you work—whether you are eligible for group membership or not. But you must act quickly—this is a limited-time offer.

*There are many kinds of health insurance, but there is only one BLUE CROSS, there is only one BLUE SHIELD. Nonprofit—community sponsored—benefits everywhere.

BLU E CROSS gives you and your family hospital care—the care you need to make you well—instead of a lump sum of cash that might not come even close to paying your bill. You don't have to worry about money when you belong to this famous nonprofit plan.

More than 1,850,000 people in this area now belong to BLUE CROSS. The number goes up by the hundreds each day. That's because almost everyone knows that BLUE CROSS is a public service—that it isn't in business to make money—that, dollar for dollar, no other hospitalization plan, whatever it seems to promise, can provide for as much hospital care as BLUE CROSS.

Nonprofit BLUE SHIELD—the doctors' own plan—pays all or a major part of your medical-surgical bills. Almost 600,000 local people now belong to it. It's growing fast—for it is today's best buy in medical-surgical protection.

Together, these two plans provide the finest, most complete medical-care "package" ever made available to the American people. They are the only hospitalization and medical plans actually backed by hospitals and doctors themselves.

Now, as part of the Philadelphia BLUE CROSS 14th anniversary celebration, you and your family are invited to join BLUE CROSS, BLUE SHIELD or both. You can join as non-group members no matter where you work, whether or not you are employed in an organization large enough to form a group. The only requirements are that you be under 66 and in good health. If you are, you and your whole family can join.

Remember that there's one chance in three someone in your family will have to go to the hospital within the year. The bill could easily be $200, $500—even $1,000 or more.

BLUE CROSS provides hospital care—not cash

What will you need when you go to the hospital? Room and meals, of course. The average cost of a semiprivate room in Philadelphia hospitals is about $10.25 a day. BLUE CROSS provides you with a semiprivate room. You'll probably need drugs—the costly "miracle drugs," perhaps. BLUE CROSS gives you all the recognized drugs you need—thousands of dollars' worth if they are required. You don't pay one penny for them. You may need use of the operating room; surgical dressings; oxygen. BLUE CROSS gives you all these things and more—almost everything you could possibly require—and for 21 to 30 days a hospital stay, depending on how long you have been a member. Maternity benefits may be included. Once a BLUE CROSS member, you may remain a member as long as you choose—wherever you may work, wherever you may go. And the benefits are nation wide.

BLUE SHIELD provides for all or most medical-surgical care

Nonprofit BLUE SHIELD provides for payments up to $200, according to its schedule, for operations made necessary by any disease, injury, fracture or dislocation. At your option, it will pay your doctor bills when you are hospitalized and no surgery is performed. Maternity benefits are also available. Cooperating doctors have agreed to make no charge to you whatsoever for services covered by BLUE SHIELD if your family has only a moderate income (not over $4,000 a year, for example, with two or more dependents).

Cost is very little for such complete benefits

The purpose of these plans is to serve the people—not to make money. That's why they can give you so much for very little. Their only interest is in giving everybody the greatest possible benefits for the least possible cost.

You and every member of your family—no matter how many—can have full BLUE CROSS and BLUE SHIELD protection for about as much per day as the price of a quart of milk or a package of cigarettes! BLUE CROSS family membership alone costs only 13¢ a day. Single people pay much less. And you pay as you go.

It really boils down to this. The cost of one illness or injury alone could be as much as your BLUE CROSS-BLUE SHIELD membership for the rest of your life. Your membership might prevent the wiping out of your life's savings—the burden of heavy debt. It's just good common sense to protect yourself the BLUE CROSS-BLUE SHIELD way!

Telephone or write for full details today

The sooner you join, the sooner you'll have the peace of mind and freedom from worry these two great plans give you. Non-group applications, under this special offer, can be accepted for a limited time only. So don't put off getting the details about BLUE CROSS and BLUE SHIELD for yourself and your family. Remember, anyone under 66 and in good health can now join—there are NO other requirements. You send no money and you are not obligated in any way. No salesman will call on you—BLUE CROSS and BLUE SHIELD do not use "high-pressure" tactics.

Don't be fooled by names that sound like BLUE CROSS and BLUE SHIELD, symbols that may look like their emblems. Remember: insurance offered by a salesman at the door is not community-sponsored, nonprofit BLUE CROSS and BLUE SHIELD. Nobody pressures you to join these plans.

Straight-Out Fight With President Shapes up as Eisenhower Strategy

ABOARD EISENHOWER SPECIAL TRAIN, Oct. 5 (AP)—A straight-out fight with President Truman began taking shape today as a major move in Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's strategy for the closing month of his presidential campaign.

Eisenhower already has fired the opening gun.

In a speech—partly off the cuff—delivered Saturday night in Fargo, N. D., the General called Truman "the drum major of the Administration's band." He followed with a barrage of waspish comments not unlike the stinging quips and cracks Gov. Adlai Stevenson has been whipping into the Republicans.

This was the first time Eisenhower went after Truman directly and in such terms.

POSSIBLY OUT of regard for their one-time personal friendship, Eisenhower, up to this point, framed his attacks in generalized terms. He referred to "the Administration," "the Democrats," and so on, but he did not center any serious fire on the President himself.

This was in line with the approach he laid down, at Abilene, Kan., the past June, before he was nominated. He said, there, he would not indulge in personalities.

In Fargo, noting that Truman had preceded him there by several days, Eisenhower said he was told the President fired "salvo after red hot salvo" at him. He looked at his audience, grinned broadly and said, he was accustomed to real artillery and was not disturbed by "blanks."

Then, in a chatty, bemused manner, he said the whole thing was sound without substance, promise without performance, howls without harmony.

"The whole is blended into a raucous din and jangle led seven years now by the drum major of the Administration's band. The noise grows wearisome, the confusion grows frustrating, and we certainly are tired of paying the piper."

Probers Call War Contract Records Bad

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 (AP)—House investigators declared today the Justice department has a "shameful" record in fraud cases involving World War II contracts. They said Assistant Attorney General Holmes Baldridge was partly to blame.

A House judiciary subcommittee reported that "delays of years" have dogged cases of overpayments to private contractors.

The subcommittee said in a report to the House that the General Accounting office (GAO) sent fraud cases totaling 21 million dollars to the Justice department four years ago. It defined the GAO as the "audit agency of Congress."

Since then, the report said, the Justice department has settled only half the cases and recovered only $300,000. "The results are most unfortunate," it said.

IT BLAMED Baldridge, former Deputy Attorney General Peyton Ford and former Assistant Attorney General H. Graham Morison for "failure to arrange for more speedy handling" of these cases.

None of the three could be reached immediately for comment. The report was the third in a series on the Justice department by the subcommittee headed by Rep. Chelf (D-Ky.).

Ford was directly responsible for the delays, the report said, while holding top offices between 1947 and 1951. "Mr. Ford," it added, "apparently spent four years either ignoring this problem or unaware that it existed."

Acheson Says Iran Misunderstood Plan

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 (AP)—Secretary of State Acheson told Iran's Premier Mossadegh today that he had misunderstood the joint British-American proposal for settlement of the oil nationalization dispute.

He offered some additional explanation in a note replying to one in which Mossadegh had bluntly rejected the formula and set up stiff conditions for a start toward settlement with the British-owned Anglo-Iranian Oil company (AIOC).

The joint proposal by President Truman and British Prime Minister Churchill had included a US offer of 10 million dollars in cash, the lifting of a British embargo on two million tons of oil stored in Iran since nationalization, and judgment of compensation claims by the International Court of Justice.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 5 (AP)—Harmory Short Line Transportation company buses began rolling again today for the first time since nearly 200 employees struck May 29.

The company said its Allegheny valley routes are operating today and that all its buses will be on the road by tomorrow morning.

US Troops Beaten off Hill by Chinese Reds

SEOUL, Monday, Oct. 6 (AP)—(Peiping broadcasts, heard in Reinforced US Eighth Army troops battled three times to the crest of a newly-won Communist hill position on the Korean western front but die-hard Chinese Reds beat them off each time, the Army announced Sunday night.

Allied planes heavily bombed and rocketed the hill, south of the truce conference site at Panmunjom after the third Allied counter-attack was repulsed.

Mossadegh's Terms For Oil Settlement Ignored by Britain

LONDON, Oct. 5 (AP)—Britain, bolstered by American backing, ignored Prime Minister Mohammed Mossadegh's terms for an Iranian oil settlement today and stood by the Aug. 30 Churchill-Truman offer of money and talks.

A message from Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden released by the foreign office here sought to persuade Iran's leader to take a new look at the Churchill-Truman plan.

The terse, 200-word communication read like a patient teacher's explanation to a pupil.

What it omitted, however, was as important as its contents. By failing to accept, reject or even comment upon Mossadegh's conditions for a settlement, Britain left the door open for further exchanges.

First reports from Britain's charge d'affaires in Tehran indicated Mossadegh's reaction was not favorable.

A foreign office spokesman said American Ambassador Loy Henderson gave Mossadegh a message couched in terms broadly similar to Eden's.

Bomb Ticks

TEL AVIV, Israel, Oct. 5 (AP)—Police announced today that a man carrying a ticking time bomb was caught in the Israeli Foreign office this morning.

Foreign Minister Moshe Sharett and Abba S. Eban, Israeli ambassador to the United States, were attending a conference nearby on the touchy question of West German reparations to this country.

A special police communique said: "A man carrying a time bomb containing three kilograms (6.61 pounds) of explosives with the clock mechanism already working was arrested this morning inside the Foreign office. The bomb was dismantled by police experts. Inquiry is continuing."

Witnesses said the man was nabbed on the second floor, which houses the West European and Protocol divisions. They said he was trying to set the clock for six minutes later.

Banker and Woman Are Burned to Death in New York Hotel

NEW YORK, Oct. 5 (AP)—A socially prominent San Francisco banker and his woman companion, a former fashion stylist for a women's magazine, were killed in a fire early today at the fashionable Hotel Warwick.

Police identified the two as Lloyd Wiseman, 46, of Berkeley, a vice president of the Crocker First National bank of San Francisco, and Mary Driscoll, 40, of West Newton, Mass.

Wiseman died immediately. Miss Driscoll died tonight, more than 14 hours after she was found in Wiseman's 29th floor room.

Employees of the upper Sixth avenue hotel chopped through the door of their room at 4:35 a. m. after Wiseman had telephoned the night clerk to ask for help.

They found Wiseman, nude and unconscious, on the floor. Miss Driscoll, also nude and unconscious, lay across a window sill. Police said their clothes may have been burned off them.

Authorities sealed the room to newspapers but a hotel employee disclosed that it had been gutted. The fire apparently started near the bed, possibly from a cigarette.

Defense Production More Than Needed

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 (AP)—Defense Mobilizer Henry H. Fowler reported today that record industrial expansion is creating capacity greater than is needed for present defense requirements while maintaining a "high level" of civilian supply.

Fowler's report had a shine of optimism, but it cautioned that "the greater part of the defense mobilization effort still lies ahead, the most perplexing technical problems remain to be solved."

Adlai's Camp Joined By Ex-GOP Mayor

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 5 (AP)—Gov. Adlai Stevenson's campaign headquarters said today a former Republican mayor of Sen. Richard M. Nixon's home town, plus a man who helped with Nixon's 1950 Senatorial campaign, have enlisted in the Stevenson cause.

The Democratic presidential nominee's managers released statements of support from Morris F. Richardson, former GOP mayor of Whittier, Calif., and John J. Wiley, who directed the senatorial campaign for Nixon two years ago for Marin county, Calif., north of San Francisco.

Nixon now is the Republican vice-presidential nominee.

Stevenson headquarters made public, too, a letter from Mrs. Eleanor Wilson McAdoo, saying the Illinois Governor's speeches remind her of those of her father, President Woodrow Wilson, and that "I am campaigning for you."

Stevenson supporters took another step today to head off what they say is a Republican plan to deliver the Nov. 4 election into the hands of GOP nominee Dwight D. Eisenhower by "blitzing" 49 key counties with spot radio and television plugs.

GEORGE BALL, Washington D. C. lawyer and executive director of Volunteers for Stevenson, said he will raise the question tomorrow with the National Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters whether such a blitz would be ethical.

The past week Ball asked the FCC for an investigation on the GOP plan.

Stevenson, himself, had a quiet day. He attended church services this morning and started getting more speeches ready for campaigning ahead.

Hammering harder at the Republicans than ever before, the Democratic candidate moves this week into thousands of miles of the chill, bleak sides of Mt. Everest and new campaign territory—today for their final assault on the unconquered peak of the world's highest mountain. No man has ever reached the summit—five and a half miles up—and returned to tell about it.

The six left their 12,200 foot high base camp in the high Himalayas and hope to start their final attack on the great peak tomorrow.

It was the second attempt this year for the Swiss party. One of the team, Raymond Lambert, a husky, toothless guide, climbed to within 900 feet of the summit on May 28 before fierce storms drove him back. Bhotia Tensing, one of Nepal's finest mountain guides, accompanied Lambert in that effort and is with the party again this time.

Lambert lost all his toes and several fingers in the frigid Alpine winter of 1938-39. He was guiding a climbing party up Mont Blanc on the French-Italian-Swiss border.

Truman Heads Eastward Pleased With Trip So Far

ABOARD TRUMAN TRAIN, Oct. 5 (AP)—President Truman headed eastward today in the second half of his coast-to-coast campaign to put his case before the President, re-Gov. Adlai Stevenson in the White House.

Unmistakably, the President was burgeoning with the progress of his gruelling give-em-hell tour to hower as a presidential candidate. Truman called a Sunday halt in political speech-making, arranging instead to meet with groups of Democratic leaders at brief stops in the progress of his 16-car train through California and into Nevada.

Pulaski Praised

NEW YORK, Oct. 5 (AP)—Gov. Adlai Stevenson praised Polish hero Casimir Pulaski today and expressed hope for "restoration of freedom" to Poland.

The anniversary of the Polish General who fought and died in the American Revolution falls on Oct. 11.

The Stevenson statement was released today by the Democratic National committee as Polish-Americans paraded on Fifth avenue in honor of Pulaski.

Stevenson said that the people of Poland are "again enslaved and dominated by a tyrannical government that is not of their own choosing."

Valley Forge Is Scene Of Strom-Trollinger Rites

Washington Memorial chapel, Valley Forge, was the scene of the double ring ceremony which united Miss Yvonne Trollinger, daughter of Mrs. Dorothy E. Trollinger, 307 North Evans street, and Mr. George C. Trollinger, Jr., 313 North Evans street, and Mr. Earl Strom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Strom, 428 South street, in marriage on Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock. The Rev. Dr. John Robbins Hart, pastor of the church, officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, approached the altar, attired in a floor-length gown of white skinneratin, styled with a closely fitted bodice, pointed collar and sleeves tapering to a point at the wrist. Her fingertip veil fell from a pillbox crown of white shurried satin and headed in seed pearls. She carried an all white bouquet with an orchid in the center.

Mrs. G. Carlos Trollinger 3d, matron of honor, chose a gown of peacock blue faille styled similar to the bride's. She wore circlettes of ivy leaves and lillies-of-the-valley in her hair, and carried a cascade of white carnations and ivy leaves.

THE BRIDESMAIDS, Miss Sarah Jayne Capp and Miss Marjorie Stofko, wore coral faille gowns identical to that of the matron of honor. The flower girl, Miss Marcia Ann Tollinger, was dressed in a peacock blue full-length gown with a Peter Pan collar, puffed sleeves and tiny covered buttons to the waist. She carried a fan effect bouquet of white petite fleurs and wore a matching circulet in her hair.

Mr. Morton Strom, brother of the bridegroom, acted as best man; ushers were Mr. Benjamin Strom and Mr. Isadore Strom, a brother of the bridegroom.

For the wedding, the mother of the bride chose a moss green taffeta dress with matching hat and black accessories. She wore a purple orchid.

IMMEDIATELY following the ceremony, a reception was held at Peacock Gardens, King of Prussia, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Strom are honeymooning in New England and Canada for one week. They will be at home to their friends after Monday Oct. 13 at 247 High street.

Guests attended the wedding from Phoenixville, Norristown, Philadelphia, Pottstown and the surrounding areas.

JCs Air Plans To Set Up New Teen-Age Center

Aiding in the establishment of a teen center was among the projects discussed at the recent meeting of the Boyertown Junior Chamber of Commerce held at Nick Izzi's hotel, South Reading avenue, Boyertown.

The Jaycees would be just one of a number of organizations who would work together in accomplishing such a long range project. President William Hollenbach appointed the following committee to investigate the project: Samuel McKinstry, chairman; John Hawkins, Robert Bittle, Gerald Weller and John Taylor Jr.

The members approved the idea of co-sponsoring a play to be presented by the Junior Woman's club of Boyertown next April.

Charter night for the Jaycees was tentatively set for Wednesday, Nov. 19, to be held at the American Legion home, South Reading avenue, Boyertown. A special program will be arranged for the event.

Edward Bloessinger, a representative of the Treasury department of Philadelphia and of the Savings Bond commission, addressed the group. He urged members to invest their savings in War Bonds and in helping get out the voters in the forthcoming election.

FBI Holds Ex-Convict Moro Outlaw Offers In $248,000 Haul To Surrender Again

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 5 (AP)—The Federal Bureau of Investigation disclosed today that Orville L. Chambliss, 35-year old Oklahoma ex-convict charged with a $248,000 Ft. Worth robbery, was being held here.

"All I'm authorized to say is that Chambliss surrendered to me at 8 o'clock last night," FBI agent D. A. Bryce said.

Two exiled Cubans identified Chambliss as the gunman who robbed them, Ft. Worth police said. They also expressed belief the money was hidden in Oklahoma.

The Cubans, Manuel F. Madareaga and Candido de La Torre, said the money was taken from them at the point of a tommygun at their swank hotel cottage early Friday.

MANILA, Oct. 5 (AP)—The Moro outlaw chief, Datu Kamlon, reportedly has offered to surrender again. The Defense department would not comment.

Kamlon, leader of 300 fierce bandits on Jolo island in the southern Sulu archipelago, once before agreed to surrender and then reneged.

The government sent 2000 troops to the island and drove remnants of Kamlon's badly-mauled gang into the jungles, where they have since waged guerrilla warfare.

West Reading Downs Bears

By ED TAGGERT

Settling a bet on the Bears' ability to make a comeback after losing to West Reading, 32-14, Saturday afternoon, the town of West Reading was graciously exchanged some of its surplus baggage for a few stray TDs.

But all the stray little six pointers were corralled by the alert cowboys from down county, with halfback Danny Cervo leading the big roundup. His four touchdowns came on runs of 12, 26, 80, and 68. When he produced a fifth—not the drinkin' kind—the refs detected a bit of clipping as his mates rode herd along the 74-yard route, and the score remained at its final proportions.

In losing their second straight game, the Bears should be anything but ashamed of their showing. Other than their failure to disengage the chagrined running of Cervo, back Bob Flemings' crew showed marked improvement over the 41-6 loss to Roversford.

Birds and low flying planes were in danger of being harpooned by flying pickin' as Bears' quarterback Greg Lignelli unleashed 32 passes, 15 times landing them in the proper arms. His replacement, Dick Mackey also fired a little pair and LaVerne Snider outpaved three more connecting lines, throwing incomplete once, and losing the third via an interception.

That total of 37 passes attempted would do justice to a pro team effort, and with a completion record of 16 and only three interceptions, Perk league fees had better check their pass defenses when the Bears come to town.

Although much of its game was mired through the air, Boyertown kept its feet on the ground when facing a disheartening 26-0 halftime deficit. Fleming was handed out nail files in the locker room because the Bruins came with sharpened claws and biting mad.

ON THE FIRST scrimmage play, Boyertown's Howie Body fumbled in his own 32, the Cowboys recovered. Five plays later Cervo rolled through the middle for 12 yards and TD No. 1.

The Bears attack remained nil after the kickoff and the Cowboys took over on the Boyertown 48 following a punt. Except for a four-yard run by halfback Dan Caporelli, Cervo supplied all the power in the second scoring march. His off-tackle jaunt, and run down to the left corner of the end zone covered 26 yards for touchdown No. 2.

No 3 also came in the first quarter as he intercepted one of Lignelli's passes on his own 20 and outsped a half dozen Boyertown pursuers.

END ED KOHL swiped a backfield lateral out of the hands of Lignelli and scampered 15 yards for a gift touchdown.

At this point Lignelli made like high school Sammy Baugh. With back Charlie Fronheiser as his favorite receiver, Lignelli called for a screen pass play that worked me after time. In one drive that covered 31 yards he passed on nine out of 10 plays.

If Cervo has a weakness it is his tendency to throw passes to the wrong team. The Bears capitalized on this flaw early in the third period as safety man Dave Erb intercepted a Dannyboy heave on the Boy-

Falcons Defeat 'Birds, 52-0, To Set Record

By JOE CAPALDI

Pouring on the steam in the early minutes, but forgetting to ease up on the throttle, the West Pottsgrove High school footballers trampled Schwenksville High school 52-0 in a record setting game Saturday afternoon. The shelling was staged on the Bluebirds field.

The game broke the high of 32 points racked up to a game but Saturday the Falcons enlarged it by 20. In 1945 West Pottsgrove gridders toppled East Greenville High school (now operating under Upper Perkiomen High school, 52-0, to set the history maker.

Surprisingly the Falcons are now resting at the top of the Little Four of the Perkiomen league at 1-0. Big Paul Strzelecki's four TDs also set the Falcons' halfback was up in the individual scoring column. Strzelecki chalked up all his scores in the first half.

The Falcons wasted no time in racking up their first score of the afternoon. On the first play of the game, Strzelecki, on a pitch out on the 45 moved the ball to the Schwenksville two yard line. A minute later Strzelecki, running the ends, hit the big double white lines to burst the game wide open with only two minutes gone in the first period. Neiman broke through the middle of the line for the extra point and the Falcons were off to the races.

Before Schwenksville could get its breath the Falcons again were on the move this time starting on their own 35. Strzelecki, banged 3. 2B—Furillo, Snider. HR—Snider off tackle to the 48 Roger Reider moved the ball on a pitch out from Neiman to the 39.

Strzelecki again carrying moved the ball to the 20 for a first down. Reider advanced the ball to the 15 and Strzelecki bulldozed his way over tackle for two yards.

Reider then passed to Lloyd Carpenter, with the end laterally to Strzelecki, who galloped the distance for the second of his four TDs.

AFTER AN exchange of punts midway through the second period, W. P. got its offense moving again. Regaining possession of the ball on the 35, the Falcons set up another touchdown threat.

This time they were coming through the air. Neiman decided to try his pitching arm and caught Strzelecki with a pass on the 30 yard line of Schwenksville. Strzelecki galloped the rest of the way untouched to record another six points to put his team way out front. 20-0 Neiman pitched to Roger Reider for the extra point.

In the dying minutes of the second period, West Pottsgrove took over on their own 35. On the next play Strzelecki, again making his appearance, moved the ball to the 45. On fine blocking by Reider, Strzelecki on the next play moved the ball around his right end for 55 yards to wind up his brilliant scoring show of the afternoon.

Dale Neiman broke into the scoring column late in the third stanza. Climaxing a 60-yard drive, he went off tackle for eight yards to send the score way up to 33-0. Leroy Carpenter added the extra point on an end run.

close can Michigan State, the No. 1 team in the country make them?

Yesterday, they managed to Beaver Field to trip William and Mary 35-23.

Pitt invading Oklahoma, found the Sooners much too tough, winding up on the wrong end of a 49-20 score. Villanova, also on the road, racked up two second half touchdowns to trip Detroit 21-7 in a night game. Unbeaten Bucknell kept rolling with a 46-12 conquest of Muhlenberg and Albright, still looking tough, whipped Lafayette 28 to 6.

Among the state teacher colleges, Bloomsburg beat Mansfield 25-6. California racked up a 28-19 win over Indiana in a free scoring affair, and Slippery Rock got by Edinboro, 20-13. Kutztown beat Cheyney and Lock Haven turned back Millersville by identical 7-0 counts.

In the Big Ten, which Michigan State will join as an operating as member next year, Wisconsin's powerhouse 20-6 triumph over Illinois sent the Badger stock soaring. The opinion is that they should go through the rest of the Big Ten schedule without mishap. They play Ohio State Saturday.

So far this season, there have been relatively few form reversals and yesterday's action was no exception. The Wisconsin triumph over Illinois was a minor surprise, as was Notre Dame's 14-3 victory over Texas.

Rather than showing any particular weakness on Texas' part, the Irish triumph indicated that Frank Leahy might have more than advertised on his squad.

Leahy's team plays Pittsburgh, which should be easy, this week. Texas Christian, the defending Southwest Conference champion, walloped Arkansas, 13-7, in its first loop outing.

MARYLAND, the No. 3 team in the first Associated Press poll of the season, did the expected by routing Clemson in a "non-conference" Southern Conference game. Both teams are under suspension by the Southern Conference for playing in bowl games the past New Year's Day.

Southern, California, the team that has hopes of winning the Pacific Coast Conference title from California, defeated Army, 22-0. The Golden Bears of Pappy Waldorf slaughtered Minnesota, 49-13. Georgia Tech continued to shine as the class of the Southland by beating Southern Methodist in a powerhouse 20-6 triumph over night game. But it probably will get a stiff argument from Duke in the opinion is that they should go through the rest of the Big Ten schedule without mishap. They play Ohio State Saturday.

But it probably will get a stiff argument from Duke in the opinion is that they should go through the rest of the Big Ten schedule without mishap. They play Ohio State Saturday.

So far this season, there have been relatively few form reversals and yesterday's action was no exception. The Wisconsin triumph over Illinois was a minor surprise, as was Notre Dame's 14-3 victory over Texas.

Rather than showing any particular weakness on Texas' part, the Irish triumph indicated that Frank Leahy might have more than advertised on his squad.

Leahy's team plays Pittsburgh, which should be easy, this week. Texas Christian, the defending Southwest Conference champion, walloped Arkansas, 13-7, in its first loop outing.

MARYLAND, the No. 3 team in the first Associated Press poll of the season, did the expected by routing Clemson in a "non-conference" Southern Conference game. Both teams are under suspension by the Southern Conference for playing in bowl games the past New Year's Day.

Southern, California, the team that has hopes of winning the Pacific Coast Conference title from California, defeated Army, 22-0. The Golden Bears of Pappy Waldorf slaughtered Minnesota, 49-13. Georgia Tech continued to shine as the class of the Southland by beating Southern Methodist in a powerhouse 20-6 triumph over night game. Bums Take 5th, 6-5

NEW YORK, Oct. 5 (AP)—Duke Snider's blazing bat and Carl Erskine's clutch pitching brought the Brooklyn Dodgers an 11-inning, 6-5 victory over the New York Yankees today in the fifth game of the World Series and gave the National League club a 2-2 edge in the best-of-seven competition.

Snider and Erskine were great. They had to be or the day's honors would have gone to Johnny Mize, 29-year-old first baseman of the Yankees, whose bid for a second home-run that would have tied the score in the eleventh was frustrated by a spectacular leaping catch by Carl Furillo.

Erskine retired 19 batters in a row after the Yankees had counted five runs in the fifth, three of them on a Mize homer.

Snider's booming bat drove home four big runs on a two-run homer single and the game-winning double.

The Duke from Lynwood, Calif., was the big run against Ewell Blackwell and Johnny Sain, a pair of National League armstrongs.

His homer in the fifth built up a 4-0 Dodge lead. His single in the seventh tied the score to repair the damage of Mize's three-run blast into the lower right field seats in the fifth inning.

In the 11th, Snider came through once more. Following singles by Billy Cox and Pee Wee Reese, he bounced a long double off the screen in front of the Yankee bullpen to score Cox with the winning run.

But all Snider's slugging would have given the Dodgers no more than a tie, if it hadn't been for Furillo's leaping stab of Mize's homer labeled smash in the last of the 11th.

The crowd of 70,335 sat tense as Mize with three homers in the last three games, strode to the plate in the 11th. Erskine hadn't let a Yank reach base since Big Jaw hit his long home run in that near-fatal fling.

The lights, glaring down from the start of the 10th, seemed even brighter in the gathering darkness as Mize again faced this willow-little fellow from Anderson, Ind. Two strikes and two balls was the count as Erskine came down with another pitch. Big Jaw swung and the ball curved in a high arc toward the same stand-where he deposited his homer in the fifth.

FURILLO, playing back near the wall, timed his leap perfectly and nabbed the ball just as it was about to disappear into the seething mass of fans.

Throwing his 165-pounds into every pitch, the 25-year-old Erskine then curled a called third strike past Yogi Berra to end the game.

This was a tremendous pitching job by Erskine. Knocked out of the box in the sixth inning of Thursday's second game. The first to be sure Erskine bunted the ball before he ran. He was forced on a one-hit shutout the Dodgers got him a 4-0 lead in the fifth. Hodges, still hitless in the series, walked through the sixth, seventh, eighth, ninth, tenth and eleventh in this brilliant comeback job.

There were angry cries from the Yankee clubhouse about a couple of first base calls by umpire Art Passarella as Manager Casey Stengel announced Vic Raschi (16-8) as tomorrow's pitcher. The big right-hander whipped Erskine, 7-1, in the second game.

Then Snider smashed Blackwell's first pitch some 350 feet into the lower right field stands, scoring behind Erskine.

The big five in the fifth rocked Erskine and brought Manager Chuck Dressen out for consultation. Dressen stuck with the puny right-hander and Erskine settled down to justify his manager's faith.

The inning started innocently enough, Hank Bauer walking on a 3-2 pitch. Martin's little hopper rolled over second base into short center for the second hit. Still that 4-0 lead looked safe.

Stengel sent Irv Noren up to bat for Blackwell and he almost duplicated Martin's hit—a bouncer just out of Robinson's reach into center.

BAUER SCORED on the hit to break the shutout and Joe Black dashed from the bench toward the Dodger bullpen to start heating up. McDougald bounced to Reese who forced Noren but Robinson's relay to first was too late for the double play. While they tried for the double play, Martin had scored.

Nixon Applauds On Snider Day

Duke Snider (4) of the Dodgers is applauded by teammates as he returns to bench after 5th inning homer of 5th World Series game, at Yankee Stadium in New York City. Joining in the applause is Sen. Nixon (upper right center). Republican vice presidential nominee, Snider was hero of game, driving in winning run with a 11th inning double. Dodgers won, 6-5, to go ahead in Series three games to two.

Spartans Skim By Oregon State

NEW YORK Oct. 5 (AP)—How squeezed past Dartmouth 7-0 on close can Michigan State, the No. 1 team in the country make them? State rallied in another thriller at Beaver Field to trip William and Mary 35-23.

Pitt invading Oklahoma, found the Sooners much too tough, winding up on the wrong end of a 49-20 score. Villanova, also on the road, racked up two second half touchdowns to trip Detroit 21-7 in a night game. Unbeaten Bucknell kept rolling with a 46-12 conquest of Muhlenberg and Albright, still looking tough, whipped Lafayette 28 to 6.

Among the state teacher colleges, Bloomsburg beat Mansfield 25-6. California racked up a 28-19 win over Indiana in a free scoring affair, and Slippery Rock got by Edinboro, 20-13. Kutztown beat Cheyney and Lock Haven turned back Millersville by identical 7-0 counts.

In the Big Ten, which Michigan State will join as an operating as member next year, Wisconsin's powerhouse 20-6 triumph over Illinois sent the Badger stock soaring. The opinion is that they should go through the rest of the Big Ten schedule without mishap. They play Ohio State Saturday.

Hill Battles Foresters In Scoreless Deadlock

They're posting storm warnings down at The Hill school for the remainder of the Blues' foes this year.

The reason is that using the barometer of the Woodberry Forest game, the local prep gridders have themselves a rugged ball club this year that will have to be jolted doubly hard to get itself knocked off.

The Blue deadlocked the Vir the first instance but Todd Beebe, junior Foresters Saturday in Alex-Hill tackle recovered Dave McAndrew, Va. 0-0, averting a defeat Gull's fumble on the 21 on WF's against that eleven for the first first play.

An here's the pitch the last time the Hills got by WF an unbeaten season resulted. In 1949 Hill only tied their foes of Saturday, too, and cleaned up every body else so it's easy to see why the out-of-staters hold such a high place of esteem as an indicator of Hill grid power.

And what's more than the tie result, the locals actually outplayed their weekend hosts, outgaining them on the ground, in the air and threatening on a number of occasions.

The closest that either team could come to barging onto scoring turf came when the Blue drove 70 yards to the WF one in the third period.

There Fred Hamilton's fourth down off-tackle slant from the four fell one stride short of the score that could have decided the game then and there and left the Blues slate completely clean.

As it stands now it's 1-0-1, with the victory coming at the expense of PMC Prep 12-7 a week ago Woodberry Forest has the same mark, winning its inaugural test before getting snarled up with the Hills.

On that goal threatening march of the locals', right half Fred Hamilton was the big gun, picking up 48 of the yards on six carries. The first three netted 42.

After the Hill had first and goal, to go on the WF 10 and Armstrong had gotten down to the seven, Fred charged down to the four before being stopped for no gain on third, down and failing short on the last-ditch try.

EARLY in the fourth stanza, the Hill got down to the Foresters 16 twice. It ran out of downs in

The Blue got down to the 16 again, only to stall out on fourth down once more.

Later in the period, Woodberry made one of its two serious moves goalward. Halfback Vic Evans, scored 26 yards to the Hill 26 for a first down but a running play and two passes fumbled and Pete Williams booted out of bounds on the four.

Duff Bigger got 10 yards around end to extricate the locals from the hole as the game ended.

Hamilton halted the other WF advance in the second period intercepting a third down toss from the Blue 25 on his own two yard line.

Despite Hamilton's running on that third period drive, Dave Armstrong netted the lion's share of his club's 194 yards rushing. Captain Dave chopped away at the Woodberry line for 97 yards in all getting 74 of them in the first half.

the second run.

Rizzuto's single to right field brought Dressen out to talk to Erskine on how to pitch to Mickey Mantle. Apparently he had the right answer for Mickey fouled to Cox.

As Mize stepped up this was the picture — McDougald on second, Rizzuto on first and two out. Big Jawn fouled off the first pitch and looked at a called strike. Out front of the hitter, Carl tried to make him go after a high outside pitch but no soap.

A low fast ball came singing up to the plate and Mize swung. High and away the ball roared, sinking gently into the stands near the Yank bullpen, probably a 400 foot wallop.

The press box crew already started to write shiny new leads about Mize winning the game, his second straight game. It was a pretty story but it didn't quite stand up.

Sain couldn't hold that 5-4 lead against the bounce-back Brooks. He Earlier Passarella called Hodges escaped in the sixth when Furillo safe at first in the eighth, claimed off with a double and was Rizzuto's throw pulled Mize stranded. He didn't quite make it off the bag.

THE DODGERS threatened in the eighth on Rizzuto's error and in the ninth on a hit batsman and walk, but Sain and his defense stopped them.

Erskine fanned to open the 11th but Cox ripped a single to left base, moving Cox to third as Snider stroled up for his big moment.

The Duke denied the right field bullpen fence with his long belt that easily scored Cox with the run that meant the ball game.

Ex-All-Americans Pace Pros

NEW YORK, Oct. 5 (AP)—Rookies stole the spotlight today in a limited National Football League program that saw only six of the 12 teams in sprawling today in action.

Freshman Ollie Matson sparked the Chicago Cardinals to an upset, 21-10 victory over the Chicago Bears with 100 and 34 yard touchdown runs.

Babe Parilli, the former pass master at Kentucky, led the Green Bay Packers to a 35-20 triumph over the Washington Redskins while newcomer Hugh McElheny had a big hand in the San Francisco 49ers' 37-14 rout of the Dallas Texans.

Matson an All America at San Francisco and an Olympic performer in the 440, staged his dazzling run with only two minutes remaining in the first half.

The Bears enjoyed a 10-0 lead at the time when Matson took George Blanda's kickoff on the goal line. He sifted through the Bears, streaked into the clear and passed Billy Stone, the sole remaining Bear defender, to score unopposed.

Matson brought the crowd to its feet again in the final period as he stole the ball on the Bear 34 and streaked across the goal line to put the Cards in the van for the first time. Charlie Trippi scored the clinching goal on a 59 yard sprint after he failed to find a receiver in a passing bid. Blanda's 39 yard field goal and Curly Morrisson's one-yard plunge accounted for all of the Bears' scoring in the second period.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

SOL LESSER, producer of the Tarzan pictures, tells about a day a herd of elephants was brought to the lot for the wild climax to one of the series. The script called for them to run amok, and charge into a bar-ricaded Zulu village, enabling Tarzan to escape. It was a tough shot to manage, and no retakes were possible, since the elephants would have to trample down the entire village to achieve the desired result. After infinite preparations, the signal to shoot was given. The jumbos charged in, huts tottered, natives fled, Tarzan broke his bonds--and the cameras ground merrily away. But suddenly everything went wrong. As the herd burst into the village square, they grabbed each other's tails and started going around in their old circus routine.

Arthur Hombrow, Jr., defines poise as the ability to finish telling a joke while the other fellow is reaching for the check.

British Papers Keep Death-Watch as Isle Mourns Salt's Death

CANTERBURY, Eng., Oct. 5 (AP)—Salt, a five-ton female elephant which lay ill for a week in a field near here, died today, and this old cathedral town is mourning.

For at least 40 years, old-timers say, Salt was a beloved character in a little circus which moves about Southern England. There's hardly a town along the Channel coast that Salt hasn't visited at one time or another.

The manner of her death was a somber sort of a circus, with a lot of spectators standing around, and some children weeping. The big London newspapers kept a death watch, and there were even medical bulletins to describe Salt's declining moments.

The show came to town a week ago, and while the tents were being set up Salt wandered around a bit. It was a privilege permitted the gentle old lady.

BUT SHE didn't take sufficient account of the five tons she weighed, and she bogged down in a mud puddle at the edge of a lake. She couldn't get out and when, seven hours later, a crane raised her, she couldn't stand.

Veterinary George Peyton's final diagnosis was: acute exhaustion and old age. The exact age was not known—but about 65 or 85, or thereabouts.

Egg Breaking Points Up Talk by Dewey

NEW YORK, Oct. 5 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey amazed television viewers today by taking an egg out of his pocket and breaking it in an ashtray.

Dewey, appearing on a Columbia Broadcasting system television program, broke the egg while commenting on President Truman's charge yesterday that Dwight D. Eisenhower was partly to blame for not getting "a clear-cut right of way" to Berlin for the Americans after the German surrender.

Dewey said Truman's charge against the Republican presidential candidate was "the most shocking exhibition of hypocrisy and downright fraud" in history.

"The fact is that Gen. Eisenhower, advised against the division of Germany in any circumstances," Dewey said.

The New York Governor then took an egg out of his righthand coat pocket.

Breaking the egg into a glass ashtray, Dewey said:

"It's like smashing an egg and then saying, 'Now, general, you put the yolk back into it.'"

Poking the smashed eggshell neatly into the ashtray, Dewey went on, an expression of disgust on his face, "We've made this kind of a mess. You clean it up."

2d Mass Jet Flight Lands at Hickam Field

HONOLULU, Oct. 5 (AP)—The second mass flight of Republic F-4G Thunderjets across the Pacific started landing at Hickam Air Force base today five hours and 46 minutes after their departure from California.

Their time for the 2400-mile flight was only 17 minutes slower than that of the first flight of jets, the past July. They were refueled in flight by Boeing aerial tankers between Travis Air Force base, Calif., and Hickam.

Twenty Thunderjets of the 27th Fighter Escort wing swept over Hickam in box formation at 1500 feet.

Col. Donald J. M. Blakeslee, 35, of Fairport Harbor, O., wing commander, was first to land.

STRAY BULLETS —

been missed."

The Barrs are continuing the search for the small caliber bullet which zipped through their son's side and left him bleeding in the moonlight near the kitchen door.

The bullet which struck a chair in the Heidenreich kitchen was a .22 caliber slug.

THIS PAST Sept. 28 the Barr brothers, Charles and Paul Richard, heard a noise outside their frame bungalow and searched the woods behind their home. The invader disappeared.

Earlier in the evening of Sept. 27 Mrs. Barr had money stolen from her bedroom. A $20 bill wrapped in a black hat was taken from her ward robe drawer and $18, which included a $10, $5 and three $1 bills in a tin box, also were stolen.

Mrs. Barr, who put the money in her hat at 6:45 p. m., said the money was stolen between that time and midnight, when she and her husband arrived home from Philadelphia.

She said her son was shot this past Saturday morning at approximately 2:45 o'clock.

"It was exactly 2:45 when I called the ambulance, she explained. 'I had been unable to sleep because my son was up. Just before he went outside he said to me there was someone outside.'

"Then he saw the doorknob turn and he got his shotgun and quickly opened the door. He walked outside and then I heard the shot which bit him. His gun went off after the bullet was fired.

"He fired from the hip and fell below the kitchen in the yard. He cried to my husband and I to stay away. 'Don't come out,' he said. 'You'll get shot.'

"MY HUSBAND jumped out of bed and then his brother got out and we went to the yard and got him in. He was bleeding badly. There was a bloodstain on the grass.

"I saw the man who shot him running across the back of our yard under the trees. The next morning I could detect the footprints. I know I saw the man because it was real moonlight.

"We decided to take my son to the hospital in our car, but the cop came and he drove him to highway where the ambulance picked him up."

The bullet entered Barr's back and came out in the fleshy part of his body. His father estimated the shot must have come from behind a bush in the rear of the yard because his son was facing the neighbor's house when the bullet was fired.

HARRY CHRUSCH, Lower Pottsgrove township chief of police, arrived shortly after the shooting. He searched the rear of the home with Lower Pottsgrove Constable George Maxwell, who was called first by the family.

He investigated until 8 o'clock Saturday morning and then returned to the Lake road house Saturday afternoon.

Chrusch said last night, "I'm going out on the case again today and I'm checking into the Heidenreich shooting too. I can't say whether there's any link between the two cases right now."

The Barrs, who have been plagued with misfortune, lost a son, John E. Barr, 16, who was killed in a Philadelphia motorcycle accident this past Aug. 31.

When they lived in Reading a few years ago their home was gutted by fire. They moved to Lower Pottsgrove township approximately two years ago.

Scientists Discover Deep Ocean Canyon

NEW YORK, Oct. 5 (AP)—Scientists have discovered a 300-foot deep canyon at least 800 miles long on the floor of the Atlantic ocean.

They believe it may be the mainstream of a giant system of deep rivers on the bottom of the sea.

The discovery was announced today by Dr. W. Maurice Ewing, an oceanographer and professor of geology at Columbia university.

He and a party of scientists returned from a 10,000-mile trip in the sea going tug, Kevin Moran. The tug was especially fitted for exploring the sea floor.

"I think we have discovered ourselves a piece of geography similar to the Mississippi river in size," Ewing told newsmen who met him when the tug docked.

The canyon was discovered by echo sounder, a device which measures depth, about 800 miles off, and a little north of Boston.

"If you're miserable from the 'hot flashes,' and accompanying irritability, restlessness, feelings of 'change of life' you may be suffering unnecessarily. You may be suffering from a condition which can be relieved by Dr. Edwards' Tablets.

"For... in tests by doctors... Lydia Pinkham's Compound and Tablets brought relief from such functionally-caused suffering to 63% and 80% (respectively) of the women tested! Complete or striking relief!

"Yet Research has proved these medicines thoroughly modern in action, has shown you where to look for relief from those distressing, nervous, 'out of sorts' feelings of mid-life 'change.' Nixon Fund Scored By Columbia Profs

NEW YORK, Oct. 5 (AP)—Twenty-three Columbia university professors today contrasted the "Nixon fund" and the "Stevenson fund," saying that Senator Nixon "set a vicious example."

The professors, including some of Columbia's best known faculty members, signed a statement in which the Stevenson fund was "briefly dismissed" and the Nixon fund denounced at length.

"The distinction between Senator Nixon's fund and Governor Stevenson's fund is clear," said the statement. "In California, money was paid directly into the senator's fund by a small number of men whose identity he knew, for his 'political expenses.'"

"In Illinois, money was paid by a large body of anonymous donors into the party campaign fund, whence it was distributed by the governor to specially meritorious state employees as a reward for public service."

"In California, Mr. Nixon's personal knowledge of the men whose pecuniary assistance promoted his political fortunes opened the way to a sense of obligation to private interests."

"In Illinois, on the contrary, the State employees had no personal knowledge whatever of the source of their supplementary compensation: no sense of obligation to anyone; and no feeling that naught, but service to the public was responsible for the unexpected, unolicited and quite impersonal gift."

Quakerstown Man Dies In Automobile Crash

COOPERSBURG, Oct. 5 (AP)—Elwood Jabs, 21, of Quakerstown, was killed today in a head-on automobile crash on Bethlehem pike, one mile south of this Bucks county community.

Dr. David Shoemaker, of Quakerstown, said Jabs, who was riding alone, suffered a broken neck.

Occupants of the other car, John Bias, 27, of McAdoo, Schuylkill county, his father, Andrew, 58, and Paul Tulay, 26, of Beaver Meadow, were taken to Quakerstown community hospital. Physicians said all were in critical condition.

Police said both automobiles were wrecked so badly they could not determine the cause of the collision.

Pottstown hospital in a Good Will ambulance.

She was admitted with a deep cut of the right knee and bruises of the face. Her condition was pronounced "good" by a hospital spokesman at 3 o'clock this morning.

The accident occurred when James Perkins, Conshohocken, was driving his 1947 sedan west on Route 83 in Kenilworth.

He explained, "I hit the bump and it happened. I can't remember anything after that."

The car, valued at approximately $1300, was a total wreck. Perkins, who said he was taking a careful passenger to Pottstown, did not know the names of the other occupants of the car.

The twisted wreckage huddled to a stop in front of the home of William Hohl, Kenilworth.

Perkins said the car was totally covered by insurance.

Daniel W. Guldin, chief of police in North Coventry township, investigated.

John Prescott, assistant director in charge of management and disposition for the New York City office of the PHA, said if no local authority, such as the Montgomery County Housing authority, which manages Hilldale, will agree to take over Hilldale, the project could be sold to a private group through competitive bidding.

20 Are Feared Lost After Trawler Founders

HULL, Eng., Oct. 5 (AP)—The British fishing trawler Norman foundered off the rocky coast of south-east Greenland and 20 crew members were feared lost today.

Owners of the 629-ton vessel said they received a message from another vessel saying that as far as was known there was only one survivor of the 21 men aboard the Norman. He was on board the Norwegian ship Poseidon heading for Bergen.

Another fishing trawler reported it picked up eight bodies. The crew abandoned ship yesterday. The Norman left Sept. 17 from Hull for Greenland on a fishing trip.

School pupils of West Pottsgrove enjoyed an educational talk, together with a demonstration, on the reptiles of North America by Jack Raymon of Silver Springs, Florida.

In his talk Raymon stated that the

There are 200 species of snakes in the world today, of which 235 are poisonous. He also said that of these there are five kinds of poisonous snakes in the United States — the rattlesnake, cottonmouth, moccasin, copperhead, and the coral snake. Among the live specimens shown by Raymon were the pine snake, black racer, coach whip, Texas bull snake and the water snake.

Raymon, who has been bitten by poisonous snakes five times, said that he would take not more than three drops of serum extracted from a rattlesnake to kill an ordinary person. But to prove that, all snakes are not as harmful as they are believed to be, he had a pupil, a girl chosen from the Tenth grade, go up on the stage and hold a large Indigo snake of Florida.

Life is a game of whist. From unseen sources the cards are shuffled, and the hands are dealt.—Eugene F. Ware.

Just Plain Thoughtlessness
YOU may have read, not too long ago, a news item that typifies the thoughtlessness that is responsible for America having the highest fire rate in world.

Perhaps you read about the 11-year-old newsboy who clung to the outside of a subway car door, during a seven-block run along an elevated section, in an eastern city. Fifteen persons in the car saw him but not one pulled the emergency cord and the youngster was dashed to death at the next station.

Fifteen people stood by and saw a boy killed without lifting a finger.

These are the same people that see a burning cigarette on a path in the woods and leave it for someone else to put it out . . . these are the workers that fail to report a smoking motor because "it's not their job" . . . these are the housewives that fail to replace a frayed electric cord because a bridge date is more important . . . these are the farmers that fail to report a brush fire because it is too far off to damage their property.

These are the Americans that will cause 1,700,000 fires this year which will kill 11,000 other Americans—and perhaps themselves.

Ignorance and indifference to fire control can be eliminated by the strong light of education just as the clean rays of the sun eradicate germs. It is a matter of statistical record that 90 percent of all fires are preventable.

Our fire record is the worst in the world, and it cannot adequately be measured in mere financial terms. It can be seen in the death and maiming and disfigurement of thousands upon thousands of human beings annually, many of them children—in the destruction of great forests and other invaluable natural resources—in lost jobs, in piles of ashes that once were homes, in ruined factories.

What makes this all the more disgraceful is that most fires can be so easily prevented. The major causes of fire are "little things"—carelessness with matches and cigarettes, rundown stoves and heating systems, improperly stored paints and solvents and other flammables, out-of-repair electrical equipment, and so on down the list. A little thought, a little effort, could eliminate most of these hazards.

This is Fire Prevention Week. A number of Pottstown and area individuals and firms remind you of this in a four-page section of The Mercury this morning, starting on Page 6 and continuing through Page 9.

You are urged to take their messages seriously. If, as individuals, we can make every week a fire prevention week, we will win the war against the great destroyer.

You can make it a 52-week a year job by fighting for a continuing program in your community, whether it be Pottstown, Boyertown, Pennsburg, Eagle or Collegeville, or any other of the many fine communities in this area.

You can become a daily fighter by plugging for:

1. Better building construction, operation and protection.
 2. Better fire safety laws and law enforcement.
 3. Better fire prevention education.
 4. Better fire fighting services.
 5. Better research, especially in the means and methods of protecting lives.
- It's everybody's job to fight for fire safety!

Growing Fuel

BEFORE too long, if Charles F. Kettering's predictions are fulfilled, motor fuel will be grown on farms. The director of General Motors told the American Automobile Association convention in Washington that a crop grown on one acre of ground will furnish fuel to run one motor car for three years.

This is a comforting forecast. It tends to banish fears of what may happen if our natural sources of gasoline dry up. Yet farm-grown fuel may bring problems, too.

For example, while farm expansion might meet initial needs, what would happen if farmers decided to grow more "fuel" and less food? The Government conceivably could "solve" that problem by paying farmers not to "grow fuel." Since this would send the price of fuel up, it probably have an OPS in try to hold it down, whereas the money, the price paid to grow, would increase, the government agency undoubtedly could step in to buy up fuel so as to send prices up again.

READERS SAY:
Calls for Women to Take Political Role

Women Should Participate

To the Editor: Many years ago we had to fight to give the women the right to vote and to take part in politics.

As a middle-aged man who thinks everyone should do his part in running our community, I wonder, especially around these election days, why we can't get women to run for borough council and school board.

They wouldn't necessarily do a better job because they are women, but they would bring a new viewpoint and approach to our community problems.

On the school board, especially, where the policies deal with children, it would seem no more than logical in an elementary way for at least one woman to have a voice.

There is a League of Women Voters in town, and other organizations that have thoughtful members.

These groups, I should think, would be among the first to encourage women to take an active part in politics.

After all, women are hit hard by high prices, by government bungling and high taxes, by wars and by everything else that occurs in and to our nation.

When, then, can't some of them, right here in Pottstown, take an active role in the community?

If their answer is that politicians won't let them, I say that if enough of them speak up and act, their voice will be heard and their actions will be effective.

Pottstown WILLIAM E. G.

Let's Do Something

To the Editor: Maybe I'm just being idealistic, but it seems to me that we in Pottstown, as good Americans, should do something more than just listen to the candidates on television and radio and then cast our votes in November.

Why should we on the local level remain so passive? Why should men thousands of miles from us make all the decisions, all the speeches, tell us what is important in the campaign, what is unimportant?

Isn't there some way that we can actively exercise our right of free speech and assembly in these crucial days?

Other readers may have better, more constructive ideas, but I would just like to throw this into the air: how about a sort of community debate program, sponsored by local civic organizations, with Pottstown citizens arguing both sides of these questions from now until election?

Of course we wouldn't influence thousands of voters; perhaps we might not influence one another. But at least we would know how our neighbor feels and reasons, and that alone is better than having some self-styled expert, writing in Washington or New York, telling us how he feels and reasons.

Isn't there something The Mercury could do in its columns to promote something on this order? Time is short, but not so short that patriotic Americans can't get together and make the most of the democratic process we inherited from our forefathers.

INTERPRETIVE
New Soviet Ambassador Asks US Friendship

By JOHN FISHER

THE NEW Soviet ambassador, Georgi Zarubin, in an artful sound-off message or his arrival in Washington, has pleaded for a better understanding of his enigmatic country.

It would not be to his advantage if Americans followed his advice. The more the free world learns about Russia and its satellite regimes, the more civilized people everywhere draw back in horror and rage at the diabolical system.

The other day President Truman called attention to a State Department document on forced labor in the Soviet Union which declared that the situation of workers under the hammer and sickle represents "the most extreme violation of human rights on the face of the earth."

Fresh evidence on the depraved system is being collected by the Economic and Social Council of the United Nations, the International Labor Organization and from other sources, including eye-witness account of victims who have fled to the West. Each dab of pigment paints the picture blacker than before.

AS THE panorama of misery and savagery is unfolded and the outside world understands the implications of Stalin's slave empire, we have due cause for alarm. Red armed forces could not be so formidable were they not supplied by the fruits of the toil of millions in bondage, who create the food reserves, munitions, military installations and raw materials essential to war.

The demands of Simon Legree in every Red State today is for record output, faster production and more workers, ranging from so-called free labor to the hopeless captives in Siberia forests and mines. Our danger is more from today's sweat than blood. The Communist war economy to a large extent is based on one form or another of forced labor, steadily preparing the way for Communist world conquest.

All sorts of methods are used to get the last drop of effort. Before the war, Czechoslovakia, Hungary and Poland had laws forbidding the employment of women in hazardous jobs and at tasks beyond their physical capacities.

A most characteristic labor factor today is the recruitment of women in foundries and mines at back-breaking toil. Approximately 400,000 women between the ages of 15 and 55 are in Polish industry and a million more are required for the new Six-Year Plan.

BULGARIA has established "re-education camps" to which those suspected of Western sympathies are sent to study Marxism and to toil 12 hours daily on irrigation projects, railroad and highway construction and mining. Professional men and white-collar types thus are compelled to do heavy work. Food is served twice a day, usually cabbage or bean soup and bread.

A novel way to get extra forced laborers is employed in Romania. Strikes have broken out in the Ploesti oil fields and refineries and in the Dumitru Vojna explosive factories. If anyone gossips about these disruptions in production and his words are reported to the police, the tale bearer is charged with "verbal economic sabotage" and is shipped off to a slave colony.

A somewhat ludicrous situation exists in Hungary. Before the Red regime took over industry, Communist agitators taught workers to shirk and commit sabotage as a means of reducing the capitalist profits. The habit continues. Now commissars must teach workers that the old tactics of obstruction are wrong. But conversion is such a slow process that loafers usually are needed out and deported to prison camps.

In Lithuania a worker five minutes late for any reason is discharged and a black mark recorded in his labor card. As employers are reluctant to hire a man with a bad record, the dismissed cannot get a job. His enforced idleness makes him a suspect.

The Voice of Broadway

By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

IF TENNESSEE WILLIAMS is so darned talented, I wish he would sit down and write a comedy. It would mean a lot to me, because I am reminded of a tune

Joan Crawford

Note! every time I think of him, and I always disliked that song. Even before the surprise finish in "Sudden Fear," Joan Crawford had handed me the surprise of my life. Her transition from clothes-horse to actress who would do ANYTHING for her art is now official. Joan—the very last movie star in the world who would be found dead wearing a Bubushka even in Farmer's Market, wears one in the film's final reels. It's called for in this one's plot-thickening recipe, so Joan bravely covers her noggin with a scarf and ties same under her determined chin. My idea of the most awful thing that can happen to a girl on a first date she's been looking forward to is to wind up at a ringside table for two in some nitery where a stripper or Double Entendre singer is giving her audience the Full Treatment. I guess the reason I never hear men discuss Dagmar's extremely pigeon-toed walk is because none of them have gotten around to noticing it. (Have you a masseuse who likes to shmoose? Can you relax while she yakety yaks?)

If a dress doesn't quite fit, Betty Hutton jet propels out of it. "Just fix it on the figure" are her famous last words. Although working with high voltage Betty is like working against a time clock. She is a designer's dream come true. Betty possesses a rare chameleon-like quality that makes her all things to all clothes. She can be romantic in ruffles, whooesome in gingham, sexy in sequins, pixieish in denims. Change the dress and you transform the girl.

SOMETIME ago, ever so many people around Paramount look to cornering me and asking a question pointblank. Always the same one. "Tell me, do you dislike Shelley Winters?" After a while I evolved a stock answer. "No." I would tell them, "but it's sweet of you to ask." It was sweet of them; those suspicious inquiries were the most reassuring compliments ever whispered in my ear. We were making "A Place in the Sun," and according to the script it was the designers job to make Shelley look as unattractive as possible without actually caricaturing her clothes.

Princess Brinda of Kapurthala will return to the US next April for publication of her autobiography. She says she wrote it all herself, with not a bit of help from a ghost . . . Katharine Cornell opens her longest tour in years in Baltimore in October. "The Constant Wife" has proven a gold mine for her . . . There's a sudden shortage of hat check girls in the midtown spots. A corollary of the D.A.'s revelations, perhaps.

AFTER NINE years as bandleader at the Ritz-Carlton, Emory Deutsch has decided to give up the band business. The new Bermuda fashion for men is a killer: white shorts, sandals, and gold stockings up to the knees . . . John Barrymore Jr. went to Europe chiefly to escape from a much older woman who's been flipping over him.

Reports reach me constantly that Hollywood is forever looking for what is known in the motion picture industry as "real sock story material." In recent years there have been some very fine musical films based on the careers of such outstanding talents as Jane Frooman, Al Tolson, the Dolly Sisters and Marilyn Miller. Soon there're to be musical epics about Eddie Cantor, Sol Hurok and Eva Tanguay. In the future, the Duncan Sisters, Gertrude Lawrence and Grace Moore are to be immortalized on the nation's silver screens.

If there's going to be room for one more, I'd like it to be me. I want to be an epic. But couldn't we get together on it now boys? Why wait until I'm 90?

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

OPAL G. 20, is in love with a sailor. "Dr. Crane, I try to send him two or three letters each week," she told me. "But I don't know how to write an interesting letter."

"It is an effort for me to try to compose even one page. Yet I love this boy very much and want to cheer him up."

"Besides, I don't want to lose him, for he is wonderful. I am hoping we can get married when he returns."

"So do you have some kind of formula for writing good letters?"

Yes, there is a dandy psychological formula for being an interesting letter writer. And you can all adopt it quickly.

IN PREVIOUS Case Records I have told you that everybody has the following slogan figuratively tattooed across his chest:

"I WANT TO FEEL IMPORTANT!" In writing letters to your sweethearts, therefore, just remember that they like to see THEMSELVES named very frequently.

Oh, they are glad to hear the news from home, too, but they don't care to read many paragraphs about YOUR activities unless you tactfully bring THEM into the discussion often.

"Daddy, your talk was better today than last Sunday," our 8-year-old Judy informed me following my Sunday school lecture.

"Thank you, I'm glad to know I'm improving," I replied. "But why do you say my talk was better today than last Sunday?"

"Oh, you talked about Danny and David and me," she naively answered.

On that Sunday I had used our three youngest children as examples, so Judy felt she was a partner in my discussion.

WE ADULTS never outgrow this childish wish to be named and headlined. Thus, we like to see our pictures in the newspaper and our names in print.

In writing letters to your sweethearts, therefore, you must remember that they get a greater thrill if you include their names in almost every paragraph.

That is especially true, if you pay them a compliment or add: "But I didn't enjoy the movie as much as when you used to be sitting beside me and squeezing my hand. Remember?"

You wives of traveling salesmen should also heed this advice to Opal. Don't omit your husband's name when you write to him.

When she was too ill to go, he went alone, then went through the entire eight acts of the show at her bedside. This experience was a great help when he got his first job at a hotel in the Catskills. He crashed radio in 1948, and is now also on television as comedian and master of ceremonies. Who is he?

2. He was a prominent manufacturer, born in Warren, Ohio, Nov. 5, 1863. After college and marriage, in 1884, he became an engineer for an electric company. In 1890 he organized an electric company of his own, and in 1897 he organized and became president of his own motor company which invented and developed the automobile which bears his name. ★ BEST PART OF YEAR—If you were fortunate enough to take an auto ride yesterday, you will agree with us that October's color riot of foliage in the countryside is the greatest show of its kind on earth. America's Autumn splendor is a challenge to take to the open road. It spurs even the city cliff dweller who tends to shun the crisp fall air, and the suburbanite whose arms ache at the very thought of green leaves turning color because soon he must rake them from his littered lawn. Increasing numbers, however, are reported taking planned "foliage tours" by automobile, railroad train, or bus, visiting park or forest areas when the color show is at its height . . .

IN THE NORTHEASTERN states, for instance, early October brings a bumper-to-bumper crop of tourists. Scarlets and golds arrive early in the Adirondacks. Leaf color is not dependent on frost, even though frost often hastens the coloring process. Leaves change from green when, for any of various reasons, roots slow down in supplying water and minerals to the tree or plant. Green chlorophyll then ceases to be dominant, and red, orange, and yellow pigments have their first chance to show. Combinations of these and the browns of dying leaves provide autumn's gorgeous color range. . . .

★ IN TROPICAL and sub-tropical forests around the world, climate varies little with the seasons. Twelve months of the year, trees show both growth and death, and no month produces a mass of color splendor.

In Great Britain the autumn foliage seems dull when compared to North America's. Wet weather tones down the color brilliance, and trees that color most are fewer. YOUR HEALTH
By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

ONE OF the truly amazing trends in surgery today is the success in operating on aged persons. Surgeons have been performing major abdominal and chest operations on very elderly patients and returning them to good health. The same has been true for serious fractures of the large bones.

The secret of much of this success has been increased research and emphasis on caring for the patient before and after his operation. In preparing an elderly patient for an operation, doctors pay even more attention to his physical condition than to the surgery itself. In this way they build up his resistance and reserve power.

Many changes have taken place in an older person's body which must be taken into account. He usually has a loss of fluid from the body tissues and in many cases the skin is dry and devoid of fluid. Therefore, before surgery is attempted, it must be shown that he has absorbed enough fluid.

Poor nutrition is a very common cause of deficiencies in the aged, and they must be corrected before surgery. Many times this is done with injections of vitamins, blood plasma, glucose and amino acids, which build up the person.

It seems that older people also tend to have a greater shortage of potassium than younger persons. This mineral should be given in large doses prior to surgery if the diet has not supplied enough of it.

Another important precaution is to strengthen the heart, which is weaker in the older individual. If there is any sign of heart trouble before surgery, digitalis is sometimes given.

Of course the antibiotics have played a major part in protecting patients from infection during and after surgery. If an elderly patient shows any signs of an infection before an operation it should be cleared up, as it could possibly prove fatal. Usually an older person sustains surgery if penicillin and other "wonder drugs" are given beforehand, for they will help prevent infection from developing.

Vitamin K has also been helpful in preventing excessive bleeding in the aged undergoing surgical procedures.

The liver is another organ which is weaker in the older person. It can be strengthened by a diet that is rich in starches, sugars, proteins such as meat, but poor in fat.

SOVIET CONGRESS —

by reactionary ruling circles in the United States' was out to dominate the world by force and was in every way fanning war hysteria in preparations for a third world war.

THE DELEGATES first elected a 16-man presidium of the Congress — not to be confused with the presidium of the Communist party's Central committee which later is to be chosen to replace the all-powerful Politburo.

Tass official news agency listed only eight of the 16 — all members of the present Politburo.

They were Stalin, Volotov, Malenkov, Lavrentyev, Beria, K. Y. Voroshilov, N. A. Bulganin, L. M. Kaganovich and N. S. Khrushchev.

A secretariat of the Congress also was named consisting of A. N. Pokrovsky, N. G. Ignatov and I. V. Kapitonov.

Malenkov's keynote was delivered at the opening session but was not made public until hours afterward when Tass official Soviet news agency began broadcasting it this morning. (Non-Communist reporters were not present.)

Besides the eight members listed as elected to the Congress' presidium, these Politburo members were present at the opening session: A. I. Mikoyan, A. A. Andreev, A. N. Kossygin.

Malenkov, launching a post-war review, said the period was "marked by the establishment of two camps—the aggressive anti-Democratic camp headed by the USA, and the peaceful, Democratic camp" headed by the Soviet Union.

"During that period," he went on, "in the capitalist world there emerged in the USA a new center of reaction and aggression from where the main threat to the cause of peace, freedom and national independence now issues."

In the face of this threat peace-loving forces have arisen in all countries for a decisive struggle in defense of peace and the national independence of their countries."

Malenkov said that the war had "produced results unforeseen by the imperialists." Instead of being weakened by the war, Russia was strengthened, he added.

While the US was becoming a "center of aggression" the Soviet Union had returned to the path planned by the 18th Communist party Congress in 1939, he declared. Since that time he added, Russia has had considerable developments in industry, agriculture, science and the arts.

The Good Will fire company was next to swing into action at 7:20 p. m. Saturday when they received a call about an oil pit fire near the Reading Railroad bridge east of Firestone boulevard.

Edward Seeders, driver of the fire truck reported that the firemen found "quite a blaze" in a 15 x 15 foot pit where used motor oil had been dumped.

It required the fire fighting team using high pressure fog nozzles, approximately a half hour to subdue the flames which were leaping high enough to burn the tops of several trees in the immediate vicinity.

Seeders' guess was that some children playing by the pit had set fire to the oil. He said he did not know who was using the pit for dumping waste lubricants.

Lindauer said that the Gilbertville Fire companies were invited to join the exhibit because they are always on hand to answer a call in Pottstown if there is a serious fire.

The borough fire chief reminded everyone, "Every week is fire prevention week."

He said that borough residents may rest assured the fire department will be ready if an emergency develops while the display is on—a police radio car will be standing by to alert the vehicles if they are needed.

Fire Police Capt. Daniel S. Drumheller said ten fire policemen will be on hand to direct traffic around the parked vehicles and to police the area.

The observance of Fire Prevention Week will be carried to the schools of the borough and to the merchants in the area by the Pottstown Chamber of Commerce. Hearing the organization's committee planning for the activities this week is Joseph A. Kelly.

FIRST SUCH REPORT EVER PUBLISHED ABOUT ANY CIGARETTE

A responsible consulting organization has reported the results of a continuing study by a competent medical specialist and his staff on the effects of smoking Chesterfield cigarettes.

A group of people from various walks of life was organized to smoke only Chesterfields. For six months this group of men and women smoked their normal amount of Chesterfields—10 to 40 a day. 45% of the group have smoked Chesterfields continually from one to thirty years for an average of 10 years each.

At the beginning and at the end of the six-months period each smoker was given a thorough examination, including X-ray pictures, by the medical specialist and his assistants. The examination covered the sinuses as well as the nose, ears and throat.

The medical specialist, after a thorough examination of every member of the group, stated: "It is my opinion that the ears, nose, throat and accessory organs of all participating subjects examined by me were not adversely affected in the six-months period by smoking the cigarettes provided."

How Industrial Fires Start

CARELESS WORKER smokes where he shouldn't. He fails to clear away combustible trash.

FLAMMABLE LIQUIDS shouldn't be stored in open. Take care with tools that produce fire.

SPRINKLERS WON'T work if they're obstructed. Don't pile stock high up to the ceiling.

ONE FAULTY WIRE is enough to burn down a plant. Check electrical equipment regularly.

A BLOCKED fire door is useless. Fire doors must be free to be closed in seconds' time.

If somebody in a Richmond Va. warehouse had realized the importance of elementary fire safety precautions a $1,000,000 fire might have been only a relatively uncostly blaze.

A "high pile" was the trouble saw the National Fire Protection Association sponsor of Fire Prevention Week. When fire started the sprinklers went off, but stock had been stacked so high that the water spray was obstructed and couldn't reach the flames.

"Concentration of values is the fundamental problem" the NFPA says. "High piling of stock is one aspect of this and larger buildings are another. Stock piling for defense is a factor. It's a case of putting all your eggs in one basket. When there is a fire it's a big one."

The importance of the concentration of values problem is supported by the record. Statistically a large loss fire is one that causes a loss of $250,000 or more. Last year there were 24 percent more large loss fires than in the previous year and 40 percent more damage was done.

Among other industrial fire hazards that call for attention the NFPA lists accumulations of combustible debris, defective wiring, careless use and storage of flammable liquids, blocked fire doors and disobedience of smoking regulations.

TRAGIC EXPERIENCE

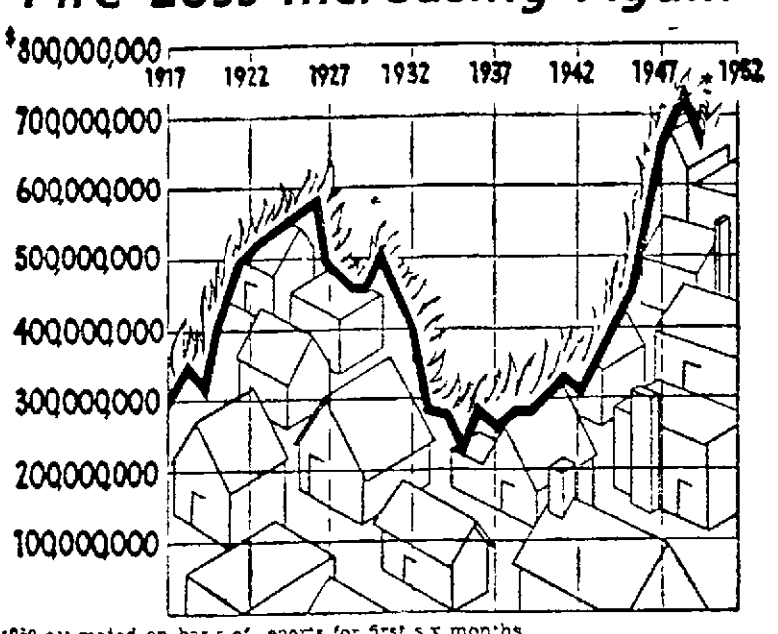

If you at some time had looked on the smoldering stubble of blackened and burned out waste where once a forest bloomed with life or if on a winter's night had watched while home and belongings were destroyed, then there would be no need to remind you that this is Fire Prevention Week. For you know at first hand the keen tragedy of fire — what a great and tragic thing fire can be.

But most of us have fortunately been spared these harrowing experiences. As a result we find it difficult to picture last year's loss of some $730,000,000 in property (including nearly 300,000 fires in homes) and 11,000 lives in terms of tragic experience.

But we do realize that there is no better way of fighting fire than by preventing it and that effective prevention is largely a matter of public consciousness.

Therefore each of us during this week should rededicate himself to his duty — to himself, his family and his community — to exercise every precaution against fire throughout the year.

Fire Loss Increasing Again

Besides fire's usual destruction, it is now hampering efforts to put the nation's economy on a war footing according to the National Fire Protection Association. The graph above shows that fire losses are near their highest level in history. The peak loss of $711,111,000 occurred in 1948. Last year the figure dropped to $667,536,000, but this year the fire loss is on its way up again. Losses reported in the first six months of 1950 total $367,117,000, five percent above the first half of 1949. The NFPA sponsor of Fire Prevention Week, attributes the increase to greater human carelessness in tolerating fire hazards.

Faulty Furnaces Menace Churches

About a fourth of all church fire hazard is the misuse of electricity. Short circuits in organs are considered hard to fight because flames frequently spread through organ lofts into attics. Lightning is the third ranking hazard. Incendiary fires, the fourth category, are practically all set by religious cranks or other mentally deranged persons, the NFPA says.

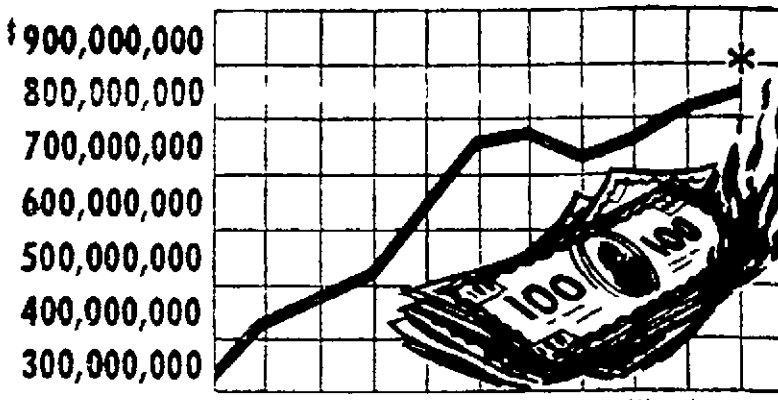

HOW IT STARTED

A lighted cigar stub dropped through a factory's broken skylight set fire to 100 dozen celluloid shirt bosoms stylish in 1904. Before the fire was over, 150 acres of Baltimore had been devastated.

The alarm was delayed and the fire horses had distemper the day of the great Boston fire of 1872 that caused a $70,000,000 loss.

Somebody threw a Fourth of July fire cracker through the window of builder's shop and 200 acres of buildings in Portland, Me., were laid waste, July 4, 1866.

Dollars Burn Faster

The fire loss continues to rise. For 1952 the National Fire Protection Association estimates the loss will reach an all time high of $855,000,000, a jump of 148 percent over the 1942 figure of $343,000,000. To call attention to the destruction that fire does and to spread information about ways of eliminating fire hazards, the NFPA is sponsoring Fire Prevention Week. The "week" has been proclaimed officially by President Truman.

The NFPA's loss increase indicates the real need for fire prevention, the NFPA says. "If all common fire hazards were eliminated the loss would drop 90 percent. There could be no better argument in favor of conscientious participation in the Fire Prevention Week program."

Princeton Backs Ike Over Former Editor

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 5 (AP) — Princeton university's student newspaper is endorsing Dwight D. Eisenhower for President and by passing the paper's former managing editor, Adlai E. Stevenson, Princeton class of 1922.

The Daily Princetonian in a front page editorial to be published in tomorrow's edition called Eisenhower a true internationalist. The number one question facing the voters this fall is whether a national Democratic administration should be returned to power, the editorial said.

Rural Fires Hit New Peak

Flammable wood shingles enable fire to spread readily from building to building. In rural areas, whole farmsteads can be burned.

An epidemic of fires in rural areas is noted by the National Fire Protection Association sponsor of Fire Prevention Week.

There are more rural fires today than ever before, says Percy Bugbee, the NFPA's general manager. "These are small fires, for the most part, but because human carelessness is the hidden cause of nearly all fires the destruction is incalculable."

Bugbee calls particular attention to the increasing number of electrical fires. Electrical fires have doubled, he says, pointing out that more farms than ever before now have electricity. He urges farmers not to do their own electrical wiring because an apparently simple little mistake can result in a major fire.

At least 90 percent of all rural fires would be prevented if common fire hazards were eliminated. This Fire Prevention Week program is recommended.

1. Install electrical wiring properly. Only a skilled electrician has the knowledge required for safe results. Keep power equipment in good repair.

2. Smoke carefully. Never during 1931 according to the National Board of Fire Underwriters and use of matches is still the No. 1 hazard.

3. Keep stoves and furnaces in

FARM FIRES CAUSE NATION HEAVY LOSS

Farm fires last year took thousands of lives and destroyed $100,000,000 worth of property, much of it badly-needed food supplies, the National Board of Fire Underwriters reported today and warned that this was a "matter of growing concern" to the nation.

The swift advance of science and technology have brought many new hazards to the farm, it pointed out.

"The farm today," NBFU observed, "has all the hazards of a machine shop, a factory, gasoline station and a paint shop, combined with buildings frequently holding tons of some of the most combustible substance known to man—hay and straw."

In warning farmers that the loss of food supplies, vital to the country's welfare and that of free nations abroad, are mostly the result of individual carelessness and faulty building construction, the NBFU called for year-round support of community efforts for greater fire safety everywhere.

In its Fire Prevention Week statement, NBFU pointed out that farm fires in general result in almost total loss. "Unlike buildings in urban areas where fire protection and water supplies are adequate, those in farm areas are often completely destroyed when they catch fire," it said.

In telling of the causes of farm fires, the NBFU said that increased use of gasoline-burning farm machinery and electrical equipment have created many new fire hazards and advised farmers to store large quantities of gasoline in underground tanks equipped with standard pumps.

"Smaller supplies should never be kept in barns, but should be stored in metal drums in well-ventilated sheds at least 400 feet from all buildings," it said.

"Electrical machinery," it added, "should be installed where there is no danger that hay and grain dust may be ignited by a spark and all machinery should be cleaned and oiled regularly to prevent overheating."

Other advice to farmers is to make certain that heavy electrical appliances have separate power circuits, that electric lights in barns are equipped with guards and out of reach of all animals that no person carelessly uses matches, lighted cigarettes pipes or cigars.

Heat, Smoke Kill More Than Fire

More people die from suffocation, caused by smoke and from contact with the superheated atmosphere or toxic gases, than are killed by flames in typical fire catastrophes according to the National Board of Fire Underwriters. Bodies of victims often show no outward signs of burns or even excessive heat.

ARSON ARRESTS

One thousand and three persons were arrested on charges of arson during 1931 according to the National Board of Fire Underwriters. Of these 888 were men and 115 were women.

NOW, THEREFORE, I William A. Griffith, Burgess of Pottstown, do hereby designate the week beginning October 5, 1932, as Fire Prevention Week.

I urge that every man, woman, and child in this great county contribute to the nation-wide effort to strengthen the United States by accepting a personal responsibility in the never-ending campaign to save life and property by preventing destructive fires. I request that the local governments, the Red Cross, the Chamber of Commerce, and business, labor and farm organizations, as well as churches, schools, civic groups and agencies of public information, co-operate fully in the observance of Fire Prevention Week. I also direct the appropriate agencies of the local Government to assist in this crusade against the loss of life and property resulting from fires.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the Borough of Pottstown to be affixed.

Done in the borough of Pottstown this 4th day of October, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and fifty two, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and seventy-seventh.

The National Fire Protection asso The conflagration danger is not cation calls flammable roofing the only reason for using fire the fire hazard of which con resistant roofing the NFPA adds this flammable is born.

The association says individual Fire brands often fly from one buildings, even those in isolated burning wooden roof to ignite other locations also are threatened by the NFPA says. A Home Fire Check List

More than a thousand home fires safety matches in the house? Are all electrical appliances clean and in good working condition? Do any appliances or lamps have frayed wires?

Has the furnace been cleaned and inspected since the past heating season? Do kitchen ranges and oil stoves work well? Are furnace ashes put into metal containers?

Is there a screen for the fire? Is the house protected by asphalt shingles or other fire resistant roofing?

Is there any combustible rubbish and are there any matches except attic or closets?

One of Three Killed by Fire Is a Child; NFPA Recommends Three Safety Rules

One of a three children killed by fire is a child less than 14 years old, according to the National Fire Protection Association, sponsor of Fire Prevention Week.

More than 4000 children were killed by fire the past year, the NFPA reports. Total deaths were 12,518.

The association says, "Children left without competent supervision are a necessary complement have unwittingly caused many tragic fires because of their ignorance of the dangers of fire and their natural inquisitiveness."

1—Provide responsible supervision at all times. The consequence when children's lives are at stake.

2—Teach fire safety by example. Fire safe practices at home are the only means by which the preschool child can acquire respect for fire and for older children.

3—Keep matches out of sight and reach of small children. "Out of sight—out of mind" is a good principle to follow where children and matches are concerned.

As the years went by, most communities began observing Fire Prevention Day on October 9, the anniversary of the Great Chicago Fire in 1889.

In 1911, 22 governors issued proclamations calling for state-wide observance of Fire Prevention Day. Nine years later, President Wilson issued a proclamation.

There are fewer fires and soon local Fire Prevention Week proclamations began referring to this year marks the 50th "clean up" day as Fire 3rd national observance.
